9 Appeal from a judgment of the United States District Court for the Eastern 10 District of New York (Joseph F. Bianco, Judge).

11 UPON DUE CONSIDERATION, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, ADJUDGED,
12 AND DECREED that the judgment of the District Court is AFFIRMED.

13 Aldean Isaac and Julissa Ortiz, individually and on behalf of all others
14 similarly situated, appeal from a judgment of the District Court (Bianco, L)
15 dismissing their claims under the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act (FDCPA), 15
16 U.S.C. § 1692 et seq., against NRA Group, LLC (NRA) and Steven C. Kusic,
17 NRA's chief executive officer. On appeal, Isaac and Ortiz argue that the District
18 Court erred in concluding, on summary judgment, that the debt-collection letters 19 that they received from NRA did not violate Section 1692g of the FDCPA. We 20 assume the parties' familiarity with the underlying facts and the record of prior 21 proceedings, to which we refer only as necessary to explain our decision to 1 affirm.

2 As relevant to our resolution of this appeal, the FDCPA requires debt 3 collectors to correctly identify “the amount of . . . debt” owed in their “initial 4 communication with a consumer” or in a “written notice” sent up to five days
5 thereafter. 15 U.S.C. § 1692g(a); see Hart v. FCI Lender Servs., Inc., 797 F.3d 219, 6 228 (2d Cir. 2015). NRA argued to the District Court and argues on appeal that 7 the September collection letters about which Isaac and Ortiz complained fail to 8 qualify as initial communications subject to Section 1692g because Isaac and 9 Ortiz were sent accurate debt-collection letters earlier on August 20, 2015. In 10 support of this argument, NRA produced the August letters to Isaac and Ortiz 11 during discovery and expressly stated in its two Rule 56.1 Statements that the 12 August letters were sent. See Joint App’x 148–49, 196, 198–201, 1140–41. In 13 response, Isaac and Ortiz failed to adduce admissible evidence in the form of 14 “depositions, documents, electronically stored information, affidavits or 15 declarations, [or] stipulations” denying that the letters were sent. Fed. R. Civ. P.
16 56(c)(1)(A). When given the opportunity to do so on appeal, Isaac and Ortiz 17 were unable to point to any other admissible evidence demonstrating that the

1 August letters had not been sent. See Oral Argument at 28:42–29:15, 33:08–
2 34:10, Isaac v. NRA Grp., LLC (No. 19-1227-cv),
3 <http://www.ca2.uscourts.gov/decisions>. It is true that the District Court
4 characterized “whether the September 2015 letters were initial communications
5 subject to Section 1692g” as a “factual issue.” Special App’x at 6 n.6. But Isaac
6 and Ortiz failed to raise a genuine factual dispute under Rule 56 that the accurate 7 August letters, not the incorrect September letters, constitute the initial 8 communications in this case. We therefore reject their claims under Section 9 1692g.

10 We have considered Isaac and Ortiz’s remaining arguments and conclude 11 that they are without merit. For the foregoing reasons, the judgment of the 12 District Court is AFFIRMED.
